

Currently I am Working at Smaket Solution Pvt Ltd

Smaket Solutions empowers retailers, wholesalers, and customers with a comprehensive suite of tools designed to simplify and enhance omnichannel retail operations. This includes both a robust Android mobile application and a user-friendly web application.

#MyRole

As a backend developer for Smaket Solutions, I leverage the power of C# and SQL Server within the .NET framework to build and maintain the critical infrastructure that drives these applications. My role primarily focuses on:

- Developing APIs: I design and implement secure and scalable APIs that facilitate seamless communication between the mobile and web applications with the central database.

- Data Management: I ensure the integrity and security of data stored in SQL Server, guaranteeing accurate and reliable information for all users.
- Business Logic: I craft the core logic behind the application, including functionalities like user authentication, data manipulation, and real-time data processing.
